Since 1982, Wicklander-Zulawski & Associates, Inc (WZ) has conducted specialized training programs for over 100,000 law enforcement professionals throughout North America. This class ties the interpretation of verbal and physical behavior into a structured approach of interview and interrogation.

The WZ Seminar on Criminal Interview & Interrogation is unique in that it provides training in multiple techniques of interview and interrogation, including the WZ Non-Confrontational Method, Behavioral Analysis Interviews and the Reid Method*. The WZ Non-Confrontational Method is a structured, conversational approach that often results in an admission (or multiple admissions) without the suspect ever making a denial or protesting their innocence. Moreover, the resulting legally-acceptable confession often includes information not revealed during the investigation.

In this seminar you will learn techniques to be more efficient and effective in:

- Eliciting relevant information and actionable intelligence
- Substantiating and closing more successful investigations
- Using most appropriate method for each case
- Avoiding false confessions
- Ensuring defendant's statements will be admissible at trial

Bottom line: There is no one, right way to interrogate every suspect. If a person is trained in multiple methods, they have the ability to use the technique most appropriate for the type of case and individual they are interviewing. In addition, if one method is not working, the investigator has additional techniques to utilize.

Some of the topics covered in the seminar include:
